

JERUSALEM – May 02, 2005 - C.D.I. Systems Ltd. announced the launch of another large-scale project, Missim [Online] by Ronen Publishing, based on NetIS™- its superb online publishing platform.

Missim [online] by Ronen Publishing is the official source for all tax regulation and professional literature (taxes, corporation & economics books) and considered by professional the ultimate resource of Online, up-to-date, tax information. Among others, Missim Online includes; Court Opinions- regarding tax sections published in Missim manuscript from January 1987 up until today & Court Opinion before 1987; Legislation of all taxes & all law amendments of income tax acts including commentaries; Articles & Conspectus published in Missim's Booklet, (of all years) including hundreds of articles written by well known scholars; Commentary to the income tax acts & to the land betterment tax act and more.

NetIS™ - the platform of choice for this project - provides Missim Online users with novel technological capabilities, applied to Ronen's Publishing premium content. With NetIS™, firms & corporation can purchase site licenses, while individuals can purchase sections from this vast database using flexible and versatile sales models.

Now Missim's Online clients can utilize the NetIS™ multi-level, full-text search engine to find content over an entire database or within a specific category. It includes a complete set of full-text search options (e.g. Boolean, proximity, wild card, etc.), hyperlinks, categorization of search results, export & print features.

According to C.D.I. System's CEO Itzhak Levit, "Thanks to NetIS™ online publishing platform, the NetIS™ DRM (Digital Rights Management) and e-commerce capabilities, Ronen Publishing could place this valuable resource on the Web without fear that the content will be stolen". "NetIS™ enjoys a level of integration well beyond that which can be achieved by the "forced" integration of individually developed systems. This level of integration finds expression in the granularity of the DRM functionality, and greatly lowered the implementation costs”.

Lior Cohen, Ronen’s CEO said: “The main reasons that NetIS™ was chosen for this project was the system's ease-of-use and its ability to create new versatile sales models and thus satisfy our clientele”. We also were very impressed with the level of protection that NetIS™ provides to our digital assets and its efficient administration functions”.

About C.D.I. Systems

Founded in 1992, C.D.I. Systems is a privately owned software house, headquartered in Israel. The Company's online publishing solutions have been deployed throughout the world as part of interactive legal productions on CD-ROM, dynamic professional databases (on-line and handheld), newspapers, phone directories, electoral registries and encyclopedias. C.D.I. Systems is the leading e-publisher of legal content in Israel and is a principal technology provider to the legal market in Germany, with a multitude of applications and customers, and including high profile applications such as the Dun and Bradstreet - Market analyzer, IDC Israel - Pay per view site, Legal Portal joint venture with Bezek (Israel telecommunication company) and Globes (Israel leading business newspaper).

Contact:

Liza Val

Marketing Manager

C.D.I. Systems (1992) Ltd+972-2-587-0112, ext 209

lizaval@cdisys.com